

She's Gonna Change the World

She wants a polyester nylon jacket
She wants to be a role model cause she never had one

She wants to squeeze me
Like a bear climbs up a eucalyptus tree

She buys shoes and boots at Kmart, seven dollars
Doesn't have much money but it doesn't seem to bother her

Cause she's got dreams that over power any Bully that don't believe her

And she wants to save lives
She wants to make a difference in this world
She's seen the worst of

I know she's gonna change the world
I know she's gonna change the world
Cause she's changing mine

Her car engine sounds like it's going to blow up
She won't say the word stupid cause instead
She'd rather say it's dumb

And she's gonna steal all my troubles and my struggles
With her snugglin' a-bubble butt below
The covers you can find us loving
You can find us laughing
About things that really are nothin'
We just like to laugh

She over-analyzes things because she loves to think
She doesn't get much sleep because she's always got a new theory
And she wants to turn it all off
Be a cheetah running sixty mile an hour to catch me
And she wants to help every boy and girl in the universe
She'll start by forgiving every evil being cause it ain't their fault

That's how I know she's gonna change the world

I know she's gonna change the world
Cause she's changing mine

She wants to jump my bones when I'm wearing that certain smell
The Beast I will be cause I know she's always wanted to be Belle
And she gets stronger every day I wake,
I make a crazy effort praying to be better
If only I could be like her

And change the world
Together we can change the world
I know she's gonna change the world
We gonna change the world
